QUALITY SERVICE SINCE 1951

Wayne Insulation Co., Inc. provides mechanical insulation services to the entire D.C. Metropolitan area. Located in Alexandria, Virginia, the company employs a workforce of over thirty-five skilled workers.

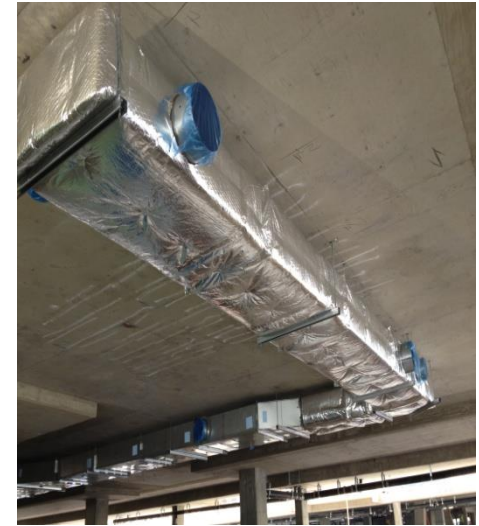

Founded in 1951 by Wayne Whitlow, Wayne Insulation provides quality services for a wide range of mechanical insulation needs. This includes pipes, ducts, boilers, chillers, and associated equipment for plumbing and HVAC systems.

Mechanical insulation provides a vapor barrier that protects both hot and cold systems. It promotes energy efficiency and a safer work environment. By reducing energy consumption, using mechanical insulation will save you money.

Wayne Insulation's services include insulation of new mechanical projects as well as replacing old insulation and repair work on existing systems. Our client base is diverse and includes commercial, educational, government, industrial, property management, and residential customers.

We train our employees in all facets of the application of mechanical insulation and provide on-going education and safety training. On each job we assign personnel who are qualified to perform the required tasks.

Wayne Insulation is very proud of its long-standing participation in and quality contribution to the construction industry. We are well equipped to perform your mechanical insulation work while providing quality customer service and safe work practices.
